

Five-years' post-doctoral research funding

Posted by vogel - 06 Aug 2014 06:59

Dear Colleagues,

Could you please make known within your circles of scientific collaborations that a new postdoctoral research fellowship is open to exceptional candidates with at least three years of research experience after a PhD (and no more than eight years). The fund is a joint initiative of Science Foundation Ireland and the UK's Royal Society.

Details are available from the SFI website (September 4 is the deadline for applications internal to Trinity College Dublin):

All my best,

Carl
